CHAPTER LETTER

Mayor Flynn/BSA Sponsor Reception

Mayor Raymond Flynn and the BSA in cooperation with the BRA are sponsoring a reception in the lobby level of City Hall on Wednesday, October 10, from 6:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. to introduce Steve Coyle, Director of the BRA, to the architectural profession.

The informal "open forum" format will give Mayor Flynn an opportunity to introduce his new BRA Director, and Mr. Coyle will have a chance to talk about the future urban design growth of Boston and to discuss how the BSA can be a vital part of that growth and how he sees the new BRA under his direction and leadership. The All Members Exhibit, as well as Harleston Parker winners will be on exhibit at City Hall at this time.

There will also be a cash bar available.

Members are urged to stop by on their way home.

Affiliate Program All Members Invited

Architecture, Music and the Church: The Reconstruction of St. Paul's, Brookline

Speakers:

Brett Donham, Architect
The Reverend George Chapman, Rector
George Bozeman, Organ Builder
Lois Regestein, Recitalist

5:30 p.m.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church
14 St. Paul Street
Brookline, Massachusetts

Reception to follow

October 24, 1984

In this departure from the usual format of the Affiliate Program we will meet at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Brookline to see and hear how this Richard Upjohn building was creatively rebuilt following a tragic fire in 1976. The architects have incorporated a solar heating system which provides 75% of the church's normal heating requirement. The new organ built by George Bozeman of Bozeman and Gibson is the focal point of the renovated nave.

The Rector of St. Paul's together with the architect and the organ builder will present a program describing the process of building/rebuilding in this historic context. A brief demonstration recital on the organ will follow, played by Lois Regestein.

Brett Donham, architect, is a principal in the firm of Donham & Sweeney in Boston, and is a vestry member of St. Paul's. The Reverend George Chapman has been rector of St. Paul's Church since 1979.

George Bozeman of Deerfield, New Hampshire, is an organist and recitalist as well as an organ builder. Lois Regestein is presently the Dean of the Boston Chapter of the American Guild of Organists (co-sponsors of this program). She is director of music at First Congregational Church in Winchester and is a frequently-heard recitalist in New England.

The program and its participants will be introduced by James H. Crissman FAIA, formerly a church organist and choir-master, and a long-time member of the American Guild of Organists.

Urban Design Citation Winner

Town of Newburyport — Phase I

Anderson Notter Finegold Sasaki Associates

In a ceremony on Saturday, October 13, beginning at 11:00 am at Inn Street Mall, Newburyport. Todd Lee AIA, BSA Commissioner on Architectural Design representing the Society and John deMonchaux, Dean of Architecture and Planning at MIT, will present a bronze plaque to Mayor Richard Sullivan from the Citation Committee.

In making the award, the Committee searched for examples of urban design where there was an evident quality in the total environment arising out of the individual actions of different sponsors and different designers working at different periods in time. In defining quality, we considered the overall coherence of the visual and the functioning result, the individual design of each element in that result (including building preservation and conservation, street furniture, landscaping, paving, etc.), the appropriateness and fit of the parts of one to another, and the overall sense of delight and understanding conveyed in the visual outcome to users of many different types and needs. In Newburyport, all of these criteria were met. Everyone welcome.

Call for Professional Appointment

The Professional Appointments Task Force has been asked by the Engineering Department of Massport for three nominees to be considered for a position on Massport's Designer Selection Panel.

The panel will consist of nine people, 6 Massport people and 3 outsiders (2 registered architects and one academician). Presently, Wilhelm Von Moltke is the only architect on the panel.

The only requirements to serve are: the person be a registered architect and not interested in doing work for Massport. The Panel meets twice a month for two hours each at the Transportation Building starting in November. There is no compensation for this position.

The panel meets to put together RFP's, reviews the proposals and ultimately selects the architect and engineer.

Massport's property is in the terminal buildings at Logan, maritime facilities, and properties at Hanscom Field.

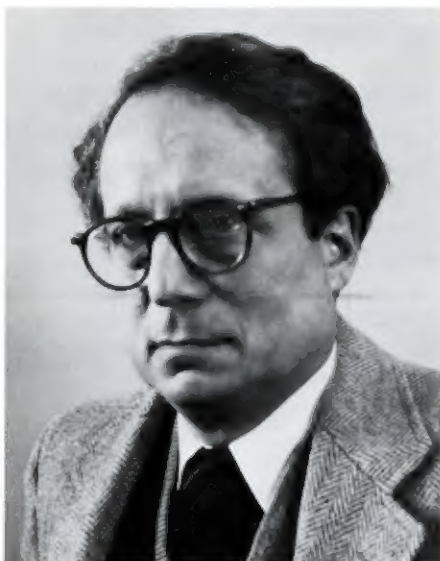

Anyone interested in being considered for this position should send a letter of interest and a resume by October 12 to Ken DeMay AIA, Sasaki Associates, 64 Pleasant Street, Watertown, MA 02172.

Peter Vanderwarker to Speak at the New Members Reception

The BSA Membership Committee announces the New Member Reception to be held at the Institute of Contemporary Art (ICA) at 955 Boylston Street on Tuesday, October 9 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of this reception is to introduce the new members to the Board of Directors and the Committee Chairs and to encourage new member participation on the BSA Committees.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Peter Vanderwarker, architectural photographer and author of the book Boston, Then and Now. Peter will show slides and discuss how he made Boston, Then and Now and what lessons can be learned from the photographs. New members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Rotch Travelling Scholarship Call for Applicants

Norman C. Fletcher FAIA, Secretary of the Rotch Travelling Scholarship, announces one Scholarship for the 1985 Competition. The Winner of the Scholarship will be known as the 1985 Rotch Scholar (stipend $13,000 for eight months foreign travel plus an additional payment of $1,000 made upon the completion of the Scholar's travels and the submission to the Secretary of a satisfactory report accepted by the Rotch Travelling Scholarship Committee within fourteen months from the date the Scholar begins his/her travels).

Applicants must be citizens of the United States, under thirty-five years of age on March 10 of the year of the competition; must have a degree from an accredited school of architecture plus at least one full year of professional experience in an architectural office in Massachusetts; or have received a degree from an accredited Massachusetts school of architecture and had at least one full year of professional experience in an architectural office not necessarily in Massachusetts; or have received a certificate from the Boston Architectural Center signifying satisfactory completion of the former five-year program and the required thesis and have had four years of professional experience in an architectural office. Applicants graduating from the Boston Architectural Center since the degree-granting program may submit their degree as qualification and need only have one year of professional experience in an architectural office.

A detailed statement of eligibility requirements, History of the Scholarship, 1985 Calendar, etc., will be sent out with the Application Form.

Special Note: Requests for Application Forms must be made in writing — to be received no later than Friday, January 4, 1985, addressed as follows:

Norman C. Fletcher, Secretary
Rotch Travelling Scholarship
46 Brattle Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138

Call for Assistance on Local R/UDAT

The BSA Urban Design Committee is seeking BSA member assistance with a local R/UDAT for the Town of Stoneham.

The purpose of the R/UDAT is to provide a plan for the revitalization of Stoneham Center.

Please call Larry Bluestone AIA at 661-1015 for further information.

Architects for Social Responsibility Plan Forum

"Architects, Planners, and the Bomb" is the title of a forum to be held Wednesday, October 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Cascieri Hall of the BAC, on the arms race and what architects and planners can do about it. The event is being co-sponsored by Planning for Peace/Architects for Social Responsibility and the ASR Task Force of the BSA. Speakers will include: James Polshek, Dean of the Columbia School of Architecture; Tunney Lee, Commissioner, Division of Capital Planning and Operations, Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and Jane Sharpe, Peace Fellow at the Bunting Institute at Radcliffe. BSA members are invited. For further information please call Shirley Fink, 527-7494.

Climbing the Ladder

Professional Success: Strategies for Getting Ahead is the name of the Fall Seminar sponsored by the Women in Architecture Sub Committee of the Program Committee on November 3, in the Ballroom of the Parker House Hotel in Boston from 8:30 a.m. registration until 5:00 p.m.

Joan Goody AIA will give the keynote address. Louis Marines, Executive Vice President of the AIA, will moderate a panel discussion entitled "Climbing the Ladder" with Elizabeth Erickson AIA, Martha Bil Monevich AIA, and Perry Neubauer AIA as panelists; three presentations will be given on "Clients Expectations," "Going Out on Your Own" will be presented by Ken Filarski AIA, Gary Graham AIA and Andrea Leers AIA; Dr. Sarah Levine will present "Balancing Act," juggling professional and personal needs; Louis Marines will wrap up the seminar with "Your Design for Success."

The invitation will be out shortly and it is extended to anyone who has given thought to any of these topics. Please call Tena at the Chapter Office, 267-5175, for further information.

AIA to Host National Conference on Energy Redesign, November 15-17, in Boston

Energy-efficient redesign strategies and techniques for architects to use on historic preservation, rehabilitation and adaptive-use projects will be addressed at a national conference, "Building Redesign and Energy Challenges," hosted by AIA, November 15-17, at Boston's Park Plaza Hotel.

The conference, co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy and 12 other organizations, will aim to inform design professionals about new technical developments, innovative design strategies, new products and ongoing energy research so they can design buildings that are more energy-efficient and economically viable.

Plenary and concurrent technical sessions will examine energy-efficient redesign strategies and research in three areas — whole-building redesign, component redesign and building rehabilitation — from the perspectives of the building owner/developer, architect, engineer, preservationist, interior designer, researcher and product manufacturer.

Panel presentations, case studies, exhibits, workshops and tours of Boston sites will be used to illustrate important energy redesign strategies that can be applied in practice and business development.

AIA President George M. Notter, Jr. FAIA, will open the conference at a banquet November 15 at the Park Plaza. Local architects and engineers will conduct tours of three recently completed redesign sites: the Transportation Building, by Goody/Clancy Architects; John Hancock Clarendon Building, by R. G. Vanderveil Engineers Inc., and the Symphony Energy Project, by Stephen Hale AIA.

The conference will feature an educational exhibit area highlighting research in progress, new products and energy activities.

An optional one-day session of the AIA "Energy in Architecture" workshop on "Energy in Redesign" (level 3c) will be offered to conference participants at a reduced rate of $165 — a savings of $30 from the $195 workshop fee. Workshop faculty instructors William Bobenhausen of the Energy Design Collaborative, Scarsdale, N.Y., and Raymond Reed of Texas A&M University will lead participants through a building package designed to teach key elements of the energy-conscious redesign process. The program will include sessions on audit, schematic audit, design development and energy management.

Participants who register by November 1 will be eligible for a preregistration fee of $195, which includes all banquet, tour, reception and exhibit activities. After Nov. 1, the registration fee will be $225.

For further information please call the Chapter Office at 267-5175.

SPNEA Programs Interpret Exhibition of Historic Photographs

The exhibition, "A Photographic Intimacy: The Portraiture of Rooms, 1865-1900," will be interpreted by a number of programs, all offered at the Harrison Gray Otis House, 141 Cambridge Street, Boston. The photographs of 19th-century domestic interiors have been selected from the collections of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, and will be on exhibit from October 5 - December 31, 1984. The exhibition was organized by SPNEA and the Photographic Resource Center at Boston University.

On Tuesday, October 16, John Burrows of Bradbury and Bradbury Art Wallpapers in California will present a lecture on the Victorian Revival in America, offering glimpses into some of America's finest surviving Victorian interiors and an overview of neo-Victorian work now being developed. The lecture will be presented at 6:00 p.m. at the Harrison Gray Otis House, Boston. The exhibition gallery will be open from 5:00-6:00 p.m. The program is co-sponsored with the Victoriana Society in America, New England Chapter. The fee is $4.00 for SPNEA and VSA members and $5.00 for non-members.

The regular gallery hours for the exhibition are Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. However, on Sunday, October 21, from 2:00-5:00 p.m., the Harrison Gray Otis House and the exhibition gallery will be open free as part of "Museum Goes Month." Gallery talks will be offered by the exhibition curators, and the museum rooms of the Otis House will be open for self-guided tours.

SPNEA Lecture Series: Boston's Government Buildings

This history and future of Boston's government buildings will be the topic of a three-part Thursday evening lecture series starting October 25. For more information and a complete brochure on SPNEA's Fall Programs, contact SPNEA's Public Affairs Office, 141 Cambridge Street, Boston, MA 02114, 617-227-3956.

October 25 — The Architecture of Government in Boston. Douglass Shan-Tucci, Architectural Historian and author of Built in Boston: City and Suburb.

November 1 — The Massachusetts State House: Researching the Building's History. Morgan Phillips, SPNEA Architectural Conservator, and Anne Grady, Architectural Historian.

November 8 — Boston and the City Hall of the Future. Peter Blake, Chairman, Department of Architecture and Planning, Catholic University, Washington, and author of Forms Follows Fiasco — Why Modern Architecture Hasn't Worked.

New England Sunbox Open to the Public

The house, designed by Paul Stevenson Oles AIA, has been built and is open to the public for inspection. The design of this house was the second place winner in the 1983 New England Electric Systems Companies energy-efficiency design competition.

The house is on Argilla Road in Methuen, MA, and is open and monitored on a daily basis for approximately one year, and then will be sold on the open market. For more information, please contact the Chapter Office.

From the Bookshop

New Titles at The Bookshop

The International Collection of Interior Design. Grosvenor Press. 777 pp. $30.00.

This long awaited volume is a new concept in book publishing in the design world. Presented here is an international overview of international design, from art to antiques, carpets to kitchens, fabrics to furniture. This collection will fascinate and influence designers, architects, and specifiers everywhere. It will provoke thought and discussion, describe and set new trends and will be eagerly awaited year after year.

Inca Architecture, by Graziano Gasparini and Luise Margolies. Indiana University Press. 350 pp. $35.00.

This is the first book devoted entirely to the remarkable buildings of Tawantinsuyu, the Inca state. To quote from The Geographic Journal: "Professor Gasparini and Dr. Margolies know every Inca ruin, not just those on the tourist beat. The fine black and white pictures precisely illustrate every aspect of Inca architecture, and they are supplanted by admirable diagrams and accurate plans. The writing is elegant and lucid; no jargon here, but rather an authoritative and often original interpretation of most aspects of Inca architecture. This is an entirely admirable book, essential for anyone interested in Inca society or archaeology."

Atlas of European Architecture, by Brian Sachar. VNR. 369 pp. $35.50.

This is an indispensable guide for every architect, art historian, and traveler seeking information on buildings in Western Europe. Over 3,500 buildings in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland are described in this unique gazetteer. The buildings, monuments, gardens, and urban spaces date from 5,000 BC to the present.

The Compact House Book: 33 Prizewinning Designs 1,000 sq. ft. or less, edited by Don Metz. Garden Way Publishing. 193 pp. $14.95.

These 33 prizewinners in the Garden Way Compact Home Design Competition prove that houses with 1,000 or fewer square feet of floor space can be imaginative, comfortable, inviting places to live. There is a wealth of information on each house design, including basic construction cost estimates, floor plans, cross sections and wall section details.

Architects: The Noted and the Ignored, by Niels L. Prak. Wiley. 242 pp. $39.95.

This book discusses the relations between the few famous 'artistic' architects and their more practical colleagues. It shows that the distinction between artistically relevant and run-of-the-mill design is a central and not an accidental feature, consciously pursued by the artistic architects. The theory developed here can help to understand the present 'crisis' in architecture. The diversity of post-modern architecture can be explained if it is placed against the ubiquitous — but rarely mentioned — background of ordinary buildings and of the novelties of yesteryear. Post-modern architecture is not unified by what it tries to achieve, but by what it tries to avoid.

is currently planning its 1984-85 schedule of meetings, seminars and workshops to begin the evening of October 18, 5:30-8:30 p.m. at the Institute of Contemporary Art in Boston.

IFMA is a support organization which addresses the need to meet the changing informational and educational requirements of in-house corporate, government, and health-care Facility Managers. These individuals are responsible for planning, construction, and on-going management of millions of square feet of space throughout the United States and abroad.

The Boston Chapter of IFMA is currently seeking new members and encourages
